OPPOSED WAR SAYS RUPPRECHT

Crown Prince of Bavaria Gives Interview.

Must Learn from Faults, He Declares.

Torpedoing of Lusitania Was More Than Crime.

BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

MUNICH (Bavaria) Jan. 9.—Former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who some German politicians believe will become King of Bavaria and possibly the next Emperor of Germany, for he is the most popular of all the German pretenders, today gave the first interview he has granted an American newspaper since the revolution.

The Prince is staying in the little town of Berchtesgaden, in the Bavarian Alps, where he retired after the war rather than leave his native country.

The Prince—tall, slim figure, with white hair and a little mustache, clear blue eyes and sunburnt face—talks in an unceremonious way, speaking fluent English.

THOUGH FRIENDLY TALK.

"Though we still are officially enemies," said the Prince, "I think we may have a friendly talk. As a matter of fact, I hardly fought against American troops. I remember that years before the war I told an American woman who complained that the German officers did not speak English: 'We probably never will speak English; surely not America.'"

"Unfortunately, I was wrong. I personally opposed the war and did not want it. I am certain that with Russia would have come, none the less, but if Russia had declared war France would not have been forced to join. I rather believe in that case England would have succeeded in holding her back."

LEARN FROM FAULTS.

"I see that I astonish you by speaking so frankly. But I think it is of no use to delude one's self. We must learn from our faults. They cost us too much not to be given the fullest consideration. That is my opinion regarding the beginning of the war. The British mind was subject to sentimental feelings, and the American mind even more so. Therefore, the torpedoing of the Lusitania was more than a crime—it was a fault. America will not bear any act whereby women are harmed."

"I always opposed bombarding cities and torpedoing as the arms of weakness which did not inflict much military harm, and on the contrary, excited our adversaries. Zeppelin raids brought us Kitchener's army. The United States—well, you know what it brought."

regulated by the value of the imported article.

Representative Fordney, chairman of the committee, and other Republicans on the committee showed a decided sympathy with the reversal of the policy which has been in effect for more than a century.

LONG BEEN ADVOCATED.

"This procedure has been advocated by many of our leading Statesmen during the past hundred years," said Howard in discussing the subject, "but never in our history has there been a time when its advantages are so apparent as at present, when we are almost the only country on a gold basis and when values in foreign markets, owing to depreciation in currency, are so unstable that it would be practically impossible to intelligently write a tariff that has a basis on foreign valuation."

Another tendency growing out of the experience of the present period of fluctuating values was in favor of using specific rates of duty wherever possible, instead of ad valorem rates. It was pointed out that this would greatly simplify the administration of the act.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, one of the Republican members, in particular, emphasized this view, asking witnesses why they suggested ad valorem rates on various commodities and declaring that unless an imperative reason could be given for using ad valorem rates, rates of duty should be applied.

house, however. Gathered on the porch and about the body, lying in a golden oak coffin, men and women sang old-time camp meeting hymns. "Rim" Thompson, famed as a leader in psalm singing, directed. So numerous did the mourners become that the multitude was directed to the rear door of the house, where it formed in line and proceeded through the hall and passed the body of the dead feudist.

The day was cold and rainy, falling alternately, while the damp air was piercing. In this downpour the crowd stood uncomplainingly, but it was found necessary frequently to hold an umbrella over the casket to save the corpse from being drenched.

WAS 81 YEARS OLD.

Anderson Hatfield was born on Mate Creek, 81 years ago last September, his family said. He served in the Confederate army as a member and later as captain of Co. A, Forty-fifth Virginia Infantry. After the war he was the leader of the Hatfield clan in the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud, which continued over fifteen years and in which thirty-one men and one woman died.

For years after the former feud leader had taken up his residence on the mountain crest and settled down in peaceful existence Kentucky authorities sought him. There was a price on his head, but one Gov. "Furr" of West Virginia hereafter refused to honor requisitions for him and finally the effort was abandoned.

MAJ. J. R. HOUGHTON DIES.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Major Joseph R. Houghton, prominent Republican of Chicago, died here today. He was born at Haverhill, Mass., in 1846 and came to California in 1868. He served through the Civil War with Gen. McClellan.

Marrying for Money.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

"Should my parents urge me to marry a man I do not love because he is rich, while there is a poor young man that I do love and whose only fault is that he has no money?" asks a young girl.

Certainly not. Parents do no more than their duty when they try to prevent a girl from marrying a man who is brutal and vicious, but between breaking off an unsuitable match and making one that appears suitable to a third party there is a vast difference. For we can sometimes save a person from certain misery, but none of us is wise enough to know just what will make another happy.

Real marriages are made in heaven. They are not manufactured by nervy middlemen here below. One of the most curious things in the world is that fathers and mothers, who are horrified by the thought of their daughters being sold to a rich man, will sell themselves to the highest bidder.

Everywhere you will see whole families put on practically starvation diets so that a pretty girl may be decked out in finery to show off her good points and dragged about from summer resort to winter resort in the hope that she will get a good match. Everywhere you will see anxious-eyed mothers throwing their girls at the heads of rich men.

Everywhere you will see women not only willing but glad to have their innocent young daughters marry men old enough to be their fathers, men with leopards past lives, if only they have a sufficiently big bank account.

And the mothers justify themselves by saying that romantic love lasts but for a little while, and that after five years all husbands look alike to a woman, and then the only thing that counts is an establishment and money.

Most of the mothers who are so mad for their daughters to marry money have themselves known the stress and strain of poverty. They have been through the bitter struggle to keep up appearances, and make one dollar do the work of five. They have known the weeping anxiety of wondering how the bills are to be paid. Their very souls have been seared with envy of those who rode in limousines while they walked to work, and they want to save their girls from the hardships they have been through.

So they are not wholeheartedly urging a mercenary marriage on their daughters. There is even something pitiful in their sortliness, and nevertheless they are wrong and the bargain they would make for their girls is a bad bargain from every point of view.

To begin with, money is a poor thing to marry for, because it is the easiest thing in the world to get. If a man lacks good looks, if he lacks youth, if he lacks intelligence and the quality of being interesting, if he lacks personal charm and attractiveness, there is no way under heaven by which he can obtain these qualities.

If a girl marries a man who is ugly, or stupid, or old and fat, or who is repulsive to her, he will be what he is to the end of the chapter. But if she marries a poor man who is energetic and industrious, he can get out and get the money.

Also, money is a thing of which one easily gets enough. It does not take millions to make one comfortable and after that, money loses its purchasing power so far as buying happiness is concerned. The woman whose husband makes enough to give her a pretty little home and the reasonable amount of luxuries has all that money will do for her in promoting her felicity.

No sensible person will contend that the people who are multi-millionaires and who live in palaces, waited on by hordes of servants, and who rush from place to place trying vainly to find some new sensation to tickle their faded palates, are the happiest people. Witness the number of divorces among them. Observe the dissolute children being brought upon them. Look at their tired, weary, blasé faces as you see them in public and none is so poor as to envy them.

The girl who sells her youth and her chance of love for money, and that the old myth of Midas and his gold is true. Very soon just the possession of mere money pulls upon her. She who has nothing except what money buys wants nothing that she can purchase. The finery she once longed for becomes rags, her jewels are just little hard pebbles, her check book is a mockery, for unescorted through vacant lots and behind billboards giving the highwayman all the more chance to do his dirty work. At night the crowds are light, and it would not put the street-car company out of service if they made the stops as they used to do, thus eliminating the present danger for the working girl. If the company won't make the changes, the City Council should make immediate plans for the escorting of the "fair damsels who fly by night," either by furnishing police officers or special guards. I think that this would help relieve the serious condition.

S. CHARLES HENRY JOHN.

Playing up Crime News.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—(To the Editor of The Times.) It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I read in the columns of this morning's Times that a ban is to be placed on crime pictures in Chicago. A subject discussed and debated since the inception of motion pictures has at last been taken hold of and praise-worthy results are bound to follow.

Another step should now be taken to assist this world gone mad. It would be a calamity to censor the press. No right thinking or intelligent person would ever suggest it. But every right thinking and intelligent person would favor a more intelligent handling of news by the papers. A censorship that is voluntary should go into effect at once on crime.

A short time ago The Times printed an editorial on crime pictures. It was a masterpiece of logic and was favored "playing down" criminal news. But in the news columns I regret to find that the police have been carried out. While only the most flagrant criminal cases are given publicity, it is true, these are such an extent, and in such detail that they are revolting.

As stated in the editorial, the world should be taught to respect the law. The population may be warned and so protect itself. But cannot this be overdone?

There are thousands of degenerates in this world and countless numbers of degenerate acts are recorded by the police every day. But these are not published for one of two reasons. I know not which. One is that it is not "nice" to discuss them, and the other is that they are not "good" news.

Murders are the acts of degenerates as much as are other acts of violence. Is there anything in this world worse than the taking of a human life? Why should the details of this crime be published more than of another?

Can't The Times afford some relief to this long suffering public? It would certainly be appreciated.

HARVEY W. SERAVANCE.

Passport Annoyances.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—(To the Editor of The Times.) We are not at war with Mexico, but on the contrary, we are attempting to again open trade relations with that country.

The other day my daughter-in-law wished to go to her husband, my son, who is with an American company in Mexico, south of Nogales, Ariz.

She was forced to pay $10.10 for some kind of a graft at Washington, and $5 to have her photograph taken for a passport, and before she could leave the United States, a young man in the customs-house (office) demanded that I must swear that was actually the father of her husband. I told him that I had always supposed that I was, then he said, "You must swear to that statement," giving me a form to sign, which I did and when I handed it back, he said "45 cents," which I paid.

There were six persons waiting in that office to go through the same grafting "rigmarole." The price used to be $2.10 for a passport, but that was not enough for the "deserving" officials who were used to airplane, Hog Island and shipbuilding at "cost plus 10 per cent grafting."

Demanding that Americans must pay to visit Mexico to look after their great investments which have been idle and robbed for nine years, is as idiotic as charging a fee for a passport. It is not time for every distinguished newspaper in the border States to bring this grafting abuse by our public officials, before the whole country and demand that the passport humbug be abolished immediately so that travel and commerce between the United States and Mexico be made as free from annoyances as it was in the years preceding the silly ruin of that country by Francisco I. Madero in 1910.

FRANK E. KIRKLAND.

Get Lots of Help.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—(To the Editor of The Times.) With 700 policemen to guard 600,000 people in Los Angeles let our Sheriff appoint about 2000 special deputies without pay, to help. This was good policy, war times, in many places, hold-up men are overrunning our city.

A private citizen in protecting his property has to shoot a burglar what is the penalty?

Let the special men watch the auto drivers who are a constant menace to life and limb.

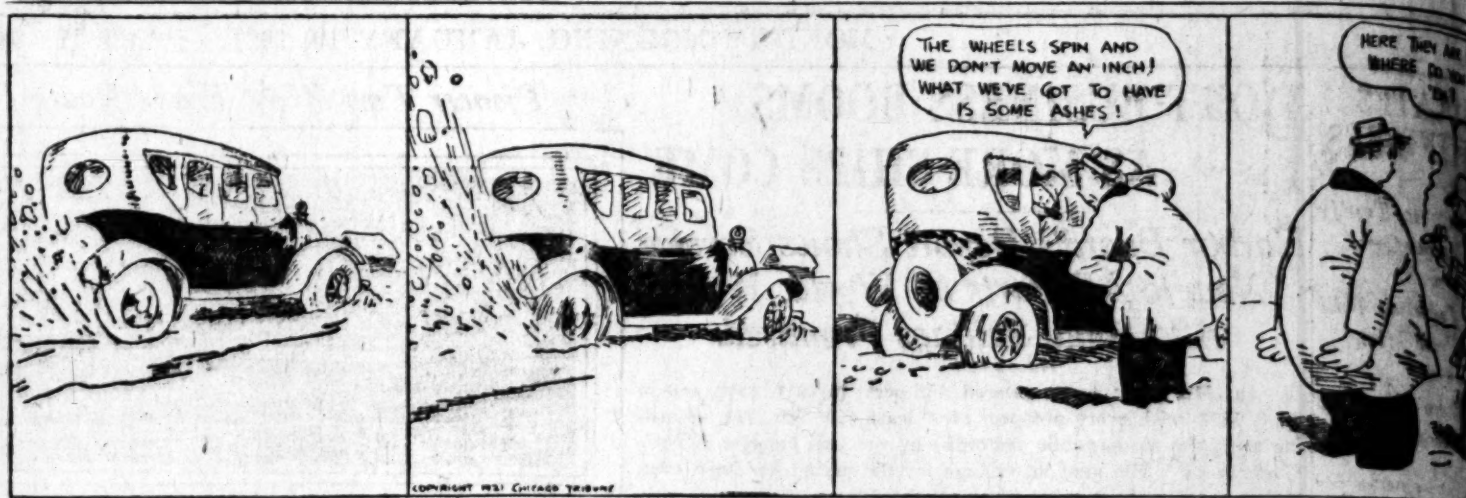

H. L. CONGER.

Sees We're It.
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 27.—(To the Editor of The Times.) As a San Franciscan I throw up the sponge in favor of Los Angeles and environs as the California city that is best described by the mustard plaster.

After touring Western Canada and the greater part of this country and keeping tab on scores of small towns, I doubt if there is a town on the continent that is not actually or potentially represented in Los Angeles. Everybody has a "sister" or "brother" living there or in Long Beach or expects to go himself.

In fact, there are two places where each thoughtful person expects to go some time—Los Angeles and Heaven, two localities not very much alike in many respects. Thousands of Canadians go to Southern California each winter, depending largely upon the price of wheat. The Canadians are drawn to the sea. In a region where there is nothing but endless spaces of earth, there is a desire to see a stretch of water. The prairies are dotted with shacks and cabins in which the farmer roasts in the summer dreaming of his annual visit to California in the winter. People do not talk of going to New York or Philadelphia or Boston; they do not save money to go East or South, but to the Golden State. Thousands of school teachers are saving up to take that trip, and many go and are like Humboldt said, and I think unfairly of Bayard Taylor, that he traveled so much and saw so little. They go to the cities see the least. Southern California is receiving special attention just now because somebody is doing a whole lot of useful

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Times Information Bureau.

Frederick J. Hixson, Director, Washington, D. C.

This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles nor to undertake exhaustive research in any subject. Give full name and address and inclose 2 cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.

Question: Who was called "The Federal Bulldog?"

W. W. W.

Answer: This name was given to Luther Martin by Thomas Jefferson when Martin withdrew from the Federal convention called for the purpose of adopting the Constitution.

Q: Where do the letters "J" and "K" appear in a list which gives the frequency of use of the different letters of the alphabet?

A: J. V.

A: A recent list compiled according to printers' experience takes "e" as a basis at 1000, it being the letter used most frequently, and thereby rates "j" as 65, and "k" as 154.

Q: Why is an American Indian not an American citizen unless he takes legal steps to become one?

A: G. G.

A: The American citizen is organized as a national unit. To a large extent, it is the duty of the citizen to take legal steps to become one.

SEEK MANAGER FOR PASADENA.

Citizens Eager to Have Only High Type of Man.

Schools Are Overflowing With Pupils in All Grades.

Popular Pastor Leaving for Work in the East.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—C. W. Kohn, manager of the municipal power and light plant, Burdette Moody, a local citizen, attached to the Los Angeles bureau of power and water, and Samuel J. McMen, a recent arrival here and the engineer who headed municipal public utilities in Columbus, O., during the war, are the names being considered for the position of City Manager in the new form of government becoming effective May 1. Seven directors will be elected by the people in April, who will select the municipal manager.

A group of representative citizens has taken the first definite steps toward arousing interest in compiling a list of possible candidates to be presented at the primaries in the director campaign. Only a nominal fee will be provided each director, yet it is felt that public-spirited citizens, regardless of their life stations, should consent to enter the race that the highest possible efficiency may be obtained from the new system replacing the City Commission.

POSSIBLE DIRECTORS.

The citizens' list for directors follows: William Thum, J. A. Phelps, J. M. Harvey, J. M. Dorn, Frank May, Frank S. Wallace, H. M. Cole, J. S. Bennett, C. W. Rhodes, C. W. Bell, W. L. Hartshorn, C. W. Leighton, George Brenner, H. M. Clayton, Grant Orth, Leon V. Shaw, George Earley, Frank W. Hill, V. H. Simer, R. P. Foss, John McWilliams, Jr., E. A. Willis and W. H. Nichols.

Pasadena's school enrollment is again growing out of its housing quarters, this time to an extent that an additional building containing at least twenty rooms is needed for solution of the problem. The Board of Education is attempting to meet the situation by erecting new bungalows at the different schoolhouses. Bids on material will be opened by the board tomorrow, plans calling for construction of two bungalows immediately at the Thomas Jefferson School.

In all of the schools' basements and cloak rooms have been turned into improvised class rooms, the Wilson School in the heart of the city using its assembly hall for instruction of three large classes.

"What is being done is but of temporary nature," declares Clayton R. Taylor of the board. "All schools are in a congested condition, and bungalows will relieve the situation until a bond issue can be voted to provide adequate schooling facilities to take care of the future student growth."

Dr. S. W. Cummings, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will leave Pasadena this week for Boston, Mass., where he has accepted a call to the Roxbury-street Baptist Church. He preached his final sermon here tonight.

City officials, business men and clergymen were guests of honor at a recent farewell reception in his honor. The congregation presented him with a purse containing several hundred dollars as a token of esteem, while flowers and a handsome gold bar pin were given Mrs. Cummings by women members of the church.

FREE HAIR CUT PLUS CLOSE SHAVE FOR COP.

LONG BEACH PATROLMAN NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH FROM OUTLAW'S BULLET.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—Literally as well as figuratively Patrolman L. G. Rounds of the Long Beach Police Department experienced a hair-breadth escape from probable death shortly before 3 o'clock this morning. He found a stranger acting in a suspicious manner in the alley between the ocean and Broadway and Chestnut and Magnolia streets.

When asked to state his business, the stranger pulled a revolver and fired pointblank at the officer at close range. The bullet struck Patrolman Rounds in the metal shield of his cap, from which it glanced through his hair and emerged without harming him, through the back of his cap.

The path of the bullet could be traced by the short hairs it left on the patrolman's scalp, a narrow escape being practically impossible. Although search of the vicinity failed to locate the highwayman, whom Patrolman Rounds shot twice, the fleeing stranger screamed as though in pain following the second shot, but managed to make his escape.

Fred Volmer of 1803 West State street, a truck driver for the Fairchild-Gilmore-Hilton Company, was struck and probably fatally injured by an automobile driven by Harvey Trueman, superintendent of the Dominguez Water Company. The accident occurred on Perris Road, near State street.

Mr. and Mrs. Volmer were walking along the highway when struck by the machine driven by Trueman, who apparently failed to see the pedestrians. Mr. Volmer sustained a basal fracture of the skull, a fractured leg and possibly internal injuries. He is not expected to live. Mrs. Volmer escaped with severe cuts and bruises.

Residents in the vicinity of a Chinese laundry at Third street and Main avenue called the police early today to report that from all indications a tong war had broken out in front of the oriental establishment. The police hurriedly ran to the scene, where they found an oriental lying in the gutter, bleeding from scalp wounds and bruises.

They then, surrounded by three others lying in the street, suffering more or less from cuts and bruises; also there was a strong smell of liquor in the air and near by was an overturned automobile.

The orientals proved to be Japanese. All intoxicated. Their machine had skidded and overturned as they tried to make the turn at the corner, and a blowout had given rise to the report of a shooting. At the police station the Japanese were released on $100 bail each.

CONTRACTORS SLASH WAGES OF CARPENTERS.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9.—Practically every contractor in the city announced today a cut of 25 per cent in the wages of carpenters and other crafts working in the building trades. Wages drop from $8 per day to $6 per day, effective January 15. Reduction of from 10 to 25 per cent in lumber prices is also predicted by lumber concerns here.

SHOW PHOTOGRAPHIC ART.

The fourth international photographic salon, which was opened to the public on January 4, in the main art gallery of the Museum of History, Science and Art at Exposition Park, will remain open until January 21. There are about 300 pictures on display, representing some of the best artistic photography being done in the United States and abroad, as a number of foreign photographers have entries. This exhibit is held under the auspices of the Camera Pictorialists of Los Angeles.

DECLINES FEDERAL JOB.

EL CENTRO, Jan. 9.—Deputy Sheriff Wier has received word of his appointment, through Collector John P. Carter, as Imperial county internal revenue collector.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

But because of unavoidable circumstances Mr. Wier has declined the appointment and today stated: "I am grateful to my many friends who have secured this position for me, but I am unable to accept at this time."

Attaches at the Sheriff's office are of the opinion that he is expecting to go to Los Angeles under Sheriff Charles Applehill, in case the latter is appointed United States marshal. He will remain with Mr. Applehill for the present.

SALARY IS STOPPED.

Special Investigator of Irrigation District Removed from Pay Roll.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

BRAWLEY, Jan. 9.—W. H. Best is authority for the statement that the $25 a day salary of Walter Kibbey is to be stopped by the irrigation board. He has been making special investigations for the district and was expected to represent the board in Washington this winter in the fight for Imperial Valley legislation for the All-American Canal.

Kibbey is now in Los Angeles. The reason for the stopping of the salary has been given. He is now in Los Angeles.

VALLEY BANKS IN BIG MERGER.

Strong Institutions to Join Forces at Calexico.

New First National Has Much Capital, Strong Backing.

Combine Means No Change in Business Personnel.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CALEXICO, Jan. 9.—Merger of the Calexico National and the First National Banks of this city, for which arrangements were made last week, will become effective tomorrow morning, when the new institution, to be known as the First National Bank of Calexico, will open its doors.

All day today a large force of movers and the clerks of the banks have been busy preparing for the merger and the big task of combining the books of the institution will be completed by morning.

The new bank will be the largest in Calexico and one of the largest in the Imperial Valley. There will be no change in the personnel of the force.

The First National has a $300,000 capital and $150,000 surplus, with strong conditions in Los Angeles. The Calexico National has a capital of $100,000, and the merger will make local financial history.

The present officers of the First

Municipal Light Plant for Valley Town is Favored.

CALEXICO, Jan. 9.—A "readiness to serve" light charge of over $480 caused Calexico City Councilmen to call for the plans for a municipal lighting plant, which were drawn over a year ago.

Investigation Fails to Disclose Cause of Blaze in Cotton Gin.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CALIPATRIA, Jan. 9.—Investigation into the Mackenzie & O'Neill gin fire, which Thursday destroyed the gin, causing a loss estimated at $25,000 has failed to determine the exact cause and the fire will probably be classed as another of the mysterious cotton fires which have been frequent in the valley lately.

This is, however, the first gin which has been totally destroyed this year, the other fires being in the yards.

WOULD CREDIT IT TO COURTHOUSE FUND.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

EL CENTRO, Jan. 9.—There is more than $70,000 in the county bank credit from interest received this year, according to Treasurer C. W. Barton, who suggests that as this sum is net and no taxpayer pays a cent of it, it be credited to the Courthouse fund.

The interest is received from loaning of county funds or rather temporary investment in war saving certificates and treasury certificates.

PART OF BAGDAD SET IN TAMPICO.

Old Native Bazaar District Colorful as Orient.

Out-of-Job Americans Hunt Cheap Food Shops.

Wares Range from Blades of Toledo to Sweets.

BY ANNE SURA.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

TAMPICO (Mex.) Jan. 9.—You don't have to go to Bagdad to see a street bazaar with a real oriental flavor. You may see one any day in this, "the most American city in the world outside the United States," within two blocks of American offices.

The bazaar is about three blocks long and shaded by a horse collar with a ribbon of streets across the bottom. It follows four streets, none of which quite goes straight, but they are not recognized as streets.

"I do not aspire to the place," declared Mr. Peck, "but if elected it will be without any strings, as I have made no promises and all that I can say is, that I will give every one a square deal."

E. O. Thomas has entered the race on the All-American Canal platform.

THREE ENTER RACE AS DISTRICT DIRECTORS.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CALEXICO, Jan. 9.—Announcement of the candidacy of J. E. Peck for irrigation director from this district has been made by Thomas E. Worthington. His chief opponent will be C. W. Brockman, a former director of the district. It is reported the candidacy of Mr. Peck is favored by prominent men of the district.

"I do not aspire to the place," declared Mr. Peck, "but if elected it will be without any strings, as I have made no promises and all that I can say is, that I will give every one a square deal."

E. O. Thomas has entered the race on the All-American Canal platform.

In the last few years, American enterprise has changed Tampico from a sleepy Mexican town of 17,000 inhabitants, largely Indian, to a modern city of 100,000, with more traffic officers in it than any other town in its size in the world, because there is a rush and bustle in its streets that would make a Chicagoan nervous.

Merchants and restaurateurs, as American business men have been attracted here from far and near, and now the Camara Nacional de Comercio is working hand-in-hand with the American Chamber of Commerce for the betterment of the dock, hotel, restaurant and general business conditions.

But in the midst of all this change
